TBC			STRATEGIC REVIEW OF THE WASTE STRATEGY		Andy Burton Olly Grantham		(d) that consideration is given as to how bins left on public highways for prolonged periods can be tackled at a more strategic level;		The Government are launching round 2 of a national consultation on changes to the way all councils collect waste. As significant changes are likely and relatively soon, no significant changes to the current policy are planned, pending the outcome of this consultation. The consultation is due to be announced in May 21 and we expect a final strategy and phased implementation from 2023. It is suggested that we revisit options when we have clear national direction with regard to waste collection and the pros and cons to enforcement are considered with a view to a potential pilot.
